Arthur is a highly qualified coach and has a background in health care. However, in the past twenty years Arthur has undertaken a wide-range of development activities within the broad range of health and social care services. This has included evaluation of a leadership development programme for the Social Services Improvement Agency, leading a coaching and mentoring programme for a local authority in south Wales, and assessing and verifying national vocational qualifications.

Arthur has extensive experience of coaching at all levels, including senior professionals and service directors and is currently coaching a chief executive of a Welsh county council. He is also currently engaged in research concerning coaching development and the use of walking in middle management education. He has been a member of a supervisory group using action learning to support leadership, coaching and mentoring interventions.

As part of his part-time duties at the University of the West of England, Arthur is programme leader for two level 7 cohorts in coaching and mentoring, a level 3 programme in mentoring as well as co-designing, delivering and verifying candidates against the level 7 certificate curriculum. He works in English or Welsh although Welsh is not his first language.

As well as an MSc, Arthur has a Doctorate in Business Administration, his doctoral research focused on leadership development in middle managers and how creativity is often the route to understanding and advancement. He also holds a Diploma in Management Studies and a Certificate of Professional Practice. He is a qualified coach via the Institute of Leadership and Management (Level 7) Diploma in Executive Coaching and Leadership Mentoring.
